The Mirror dinghy makes friends the French

THE jaunty Mirror dinghy, Britain's most successful small boat, has gone Continental. Frenchmen love it—and so do the

While the dinghy, with its cheery red sail, was stealing the thunder of larger boats at the Boat Show in London, I put one on the roof rack of my car and drove to Paris.

Admirers

Today the dinghy is on display at the Parls Boat Show, surrounded by a big crowd of admirers.

One pretty girl, Gigi Tanguy, an air hostess, told me: "The boat is so becom-ing. And a man with a pretty boat is so much more attractive than one who has only a fast sports car.
"With a boat like this, which is so in-expensive, anyone can sail away from it

Lonely Wives

WHEN I married my husband, a seaman in the Royal Navy, we both knew there was a strong possibility that he would be drafted abroad and we would be separated.

Feeling the way we did about each other this thought was pushed to the back of our minds. Now he has gone abroad and we are both unhappy.

It is obvious from the letter written by an RAF
